Biggest Squash Weighs 378 Pounds

THE BIGGEST EVER—Frank and Mark Coon watch expectantly as Pumpkin Show director Red Wilson inscribes the weight on their 378-pound squash. The cross-bred Hungarian Gray is the largest ever exhibited at the Pumpkin Show, but did not live up to Mark's hopes for a 400-pounder.

A monstrous Hungarian Gray squash weighing 378 pounds smashed the existing Pumpkin Show record and brought the coveted "largest" title back to the Coon Brothers Farm.

The champion was exhibited by Mark Coon, 25-year-old son of George Coon, Mark is a foreman at the Farm owned by his father and brothers Frank and Don.

Mark, by the way, had the grand champion at the Ohio State Fair, a 222-pounder he had been growing expressly for the Pumpkin Show, but a squash that "duded out."

The Coon Brothers have won the title 17 times in the last 21 years, with George getting the credit three times and Frank 13.

Their reign was interrupted in 1961 and 1968 by Doug Dunkle, 1967 by Ralph Dunkle, and last year by Ralph Dreisbach, whose 368-pound Hungarian Pink held the previous record.

Dreisbach's entry this year, the only real competition for the Coons, weighed in at 346 pounds. It was propagated from seeds of last year's winner.

The biggest problem the Coons had at the weigh-in, however, was getting the giant squash onto the scales. Its circumference is 9-feet, 8-inches, and it is 39½ inches high and 34½ inches wide.

Ironically, the Coons were somewhat disappointed with their entry, feeling Dreisbach's was bigger. Apparently there is a camaraderie between large pumpkin and squash growers which is carried out to the point that they actually gave Dreisbach the seeds for the 1974 champion.

And Dreisbach returned the favor, giving seeds from his champion to the Coons. However, of the 12 to 15 pots the Coons started from the seeds early in the year, only four survived.

The actual parentage of Mark's champion is somewhat in doubt, as the Coons strive yearly to cross-breed the best available seeds for the best and biggest possible strain of squash.

George Coon constantly solicits seeds from large squash grown in other parts of the country. He even obtained seeds from a 399-pounder grown in Canada.

Mark Thinks however, that the primary seed in the 378-pound champion came from a squash they weighed at 375 pounds in 1973. But it rotted in the field before show time.

About an acre of the Route 752 produce farm is devoted to breeding large squash, Mark said. Plants are started indoors in early April and the record-breaker was set-out May 1.

Fertile ground, plenty of animal manure and water are needed. The grower then must pick what he feels is the best plant, and trim off the extraneous vines.

Mark, who lives at home, helps manage the farm, which is being converted into orchards.

A 1968 graduate of Teays Valley High School, he holds a degree in business administration from Ohio University, Athens.

The winning squash will be pitted against the largest pumpkin grown in the California community of Half Moon Bay in the second annual World Series of Pumpkin.

Dreisbach's record-breaking 368-pounder easily won the title last year for the Pumpkin Show, far outclassing the 131¼-pounder grown in the Pumpkin Capital of California.

However, Half Moon Bay Mayor Lloyd Cardoni promises some surprises for this year's battle, which was staged at 1 p.m. today via a telepatch system devised and constructed by General Telephone Co. especially for the contest.

Mayor Cardoni, in a letter to Circleville Mayor Frank Barnhill, hinted that Dreisbach's winner may have been more squash than pumpkin, raising again the furor that only a pumpkin should challenge a pumpkin.

He said that his community's organically-grown, fog-kissed entry was "squashed" in the contest.

However, as he noted, "Underdogs do sometimes win when its least expected, and so do under-pumpkins." But, Pumpkin Show spies in the area claim that the best Half Moon Bay has to offer is a 270-pounder. It is, however, a real pumpkin again.

Half Moon Bay's festival, the fifth annual, is scheduled to run Oct. 18 and 19 in the San Francisco area community.

Fifteen major commercial growers supply about 600,000 tons yearly to the pumpkin canning industry from Half Moon Bay.

In Pickaway County, by contrast, pumpkin-growing is a relatively new form of agriculture. Started in 1934, commercial pumpkin-growing met its demise with the failure of the canning industry, and now pumpkins are grown primarily for the Pumpkin Show and roadside stands.

The following list of top pumpkin and squash winners from previous shows was compiled by Michele Morrison, Pumpkin Show secretary. The listing is through 1949, with some selected other years.

Sungoddess Visits Pumpkin Show

Radiating a natural freshness, 19-year-old Martha Bell is the ideal representative of the Sunshine City and its celebrated Festival of states.

Marti, which she prefers to be called, is the Festival's 1975 Sungoddess, reigning until April, 1976 and will participate in the activities of Pumpkin Show.

The 5' 6" daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Bernard T. Bell is a sophomore at Wake Forest University in Winston Salem, North Carolina. An excellent student, she is majoring in Spanish and Psychology. Her extra-curricular school activities include tutoring and working with church-affiliated youth groups.

Marti's hobbies are water-oriented. An expert swimmer (she has a Water Safety Instructor's Certificate for Life Guarding), she finds time to water ski, to fish for tarpon and shark, and to study marine biology as a hobby. Traveling is another past-time, and earlier this year she spent three weeks in Ecuador in a school study program.

Her desire to visit other states and sections of the country "is what I am looking forward to most during my year as Sungoddess," she says.

As the royal representative of St.

Demos Carry Bills Battle To High Court

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Majority Democrats have served notice they intend to carry to the Ohio Supreme Court their battle to validate six partisan bills enacted during the legislature's highly-publicized "six-day war."

Peter Kinder, assistant to Democratic Atty. Gen. William J. Brown, filed formal notice of the appeal Tuesday in the 10th District State Court of Appeals, where the case was rejected last month. He said the appeal to the state's highest court will come within 30 days.

Democrats enacted the six measures the first week in January while they still controlled the governor's office, and their failure to get them signed by outgoing Lt. Gov. John W. Brown, a Republican, is the basis of the protracted legal battle.

Kinder argued in the Franklin County Court of Common Pleas, and subsequently in the district court, that the lieutenant governor's signature on enactments is only "a formality."

Both of those courts, made up mostly of Republican judges, overruled Kinder's contention that to require the lieutenant governor's signature would give that office the power of "absolute veto" not intended by drafters of the Ohio Constitution.

Among other things, the bills would reshape Ohio's congressional districts to the advantage of Democrats, take away some appointive powers of the secretary of state, now held by Republican Ted W. Brown, and transfer certain holdover employees of the Democratic administration into agencies still controlled by elected Democrats.

Former Democratic Gov. John J. Gilligan put his signature on the bills shortly before yielding his office Jan. 13 to then GOP Gov.-elect James A. Rhodes, aware Rhodes would apply his veto if legislative Democrats waited until after Rhodes was sworn in before sending them to the governor's office.

John Brown's term as lieutenant governor didn't expire until Jan. 13, and Democrats were sworn in as majority members of both the Senate and House a week earlier. Brown said he was not presented with engrossed copies of the measures and could not put his signature on copies.

Weather

Partial clearing and cooler tonight, low, low to mid 50s. Partly cloudy Thursday, high, upper 60s to low 70s. Chance of rain, 40 per cent tonight and 10 per cent Thursday. Temperatures Tuesday were: high, 85; low, 60.

Mabel Walker's Masterpiece Honors Bicentennial Spirit

It took Mabel Walker a little over a month and a half to capture the bountiful heritage and spirit America has accumulated in its first 200 years.

Not that Mrs. Walker, an excellent and hard-working craftsman, tried to rush her work on an original-design quilt, commemorating the Bicentennial. She just quickly found her direction and worked many long hours to complete the project.

The 80-by 96-inch Bicentennial quilt, one of its kind, features Mrs. Walker's views of our country, insights she has gained in 28 years of teaching service in the county schools and personal observations that could only be acquired through a first-hand love of our nation and its history.

The quilt is "almost alive," she claims, and does indeed sing the songs of the nation from its background of vivid red, white, and blue colors.

In the center is a tightly-stitched American Beauty rose, a tribute to one of the many tales she related to her school children. The heading of the quilt is a verse from "America" complete with hand-stitched musical score. "Amens," again with score, fill the bottom.

Mrs. Walker chose the verse "God Mend Thine Every Flaw" from "America" because of the recent series of unrest she feels has plagued the country.

Other prevalent stitchery includes a likeness of the Liberty Bell, a drum (for marching to a different beat), stars representing the 13 original colonies stretched across the top and 50 for the current states across the bottom, a communication's tower, lighthouse, different modes of transportation, and a series of personally-interpretive chains.

"USA 200" is stitched down both sides of the quilt.

Perhaps the most important tribute to our country is contained in the individual pieces of quilting which comprise the center of the quilt.

Each piece, representing a different facet from the theme of freedom, was either donated by one of her many friends or a left-over from another project.

The center portion, enclosed in a circle, has additional padding on its backside, making it resemble a plate when spread out on a flat surface. The quilted pieces in the circle slope towards the center.

Mrs. Walker began work on the quilt July 7, after carefully detailing her personal plan. She finished late in the night of Aug. 29.

She has been quilting for about 50 years, and has completed four other projects in the last year.

But most of her "busy" work deals with making lap robes for hospital patients, items she gives in the name of her church, Scioto Chapel in Robtown.

Mrs. Walker, Route 3, retired in 1970 after teaching primarily at Jackson Twp. school for 28 years. The widow of New Walker, she has one son.

Her quilt will be on display during the Pumpkin Show in the front window of the J. C. Penney Co. store.

If the crowds were still in town and the concessionaires still operating, then Chief of Police William (Bugs) McCrady and other members of the city force would start down the street, cutting the guy ropes on tents of those still doing business, allowing the tents to collapse on concessionaires and customers alike.

Esther McClarren came all the way from California for the Pumpkin Show, an annual trek to her old home town. Over the years she has been away from Roundtown, she has probably logged as many or more miles than anyone else returning for the fall festival.

Offices in the Pickaway County Courthouse will close at 4 p.m. on Friday in observation of the Pumpkin Show. The elected officials met and agreed that since the offices do very little business on Friday evening of the festival, early closing would be in order. The

MAKING CIDER—Approximately 70 fourth grade students at Atwater School gathered together Thursday to make some homebrew apple cider. The three classes, taught by Mrs. Phyllis Gifford, Miss Sue Bennett and Miss Eileen Shaul, brought apples to school, sorted the various varieties, washed and cored them before putting them in the hopper or cider press. The cider was strained before teachers and students could drink the pure fruit drink. Dawson Parks and Art Gifford assisted the classes in making the cider.

Congressional Spending Ceiling Likely To Flop

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Ford administration's appeal to Congress to set a spending ceiling comes against the background of two other such ceilings in recent years that were both exceeded by actual spending.

Key Democrats in Congress, including Chairman George H. Mahon of the House Appropriations Committee, have cited those experiences as evidence that Ford's proposal to trade spending cuts for tax cuts is unworkable.

Neither of the previous ceilings involved spending cuts as deep as the $28 billion that Ford has insisted accompany any 1976 tax cut of the same amount. Ford says he will veto any tax cut that is not accompanied by a spending cut.

Both previous efforts to set spending ceilings were made by a Democratic-controlled Congress during the administration of a Democratic president, the late Lyndon B. Johnson. They came at a time when mounting costs of the Vietnam war, not offset by hold-downs in domestic programs, were causing heavy budget deficits.

Early in 1967, Congress passed a joint resolution setting an expenditure ceiling of $175.6 billion for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1967. There were holes in the ceiling, however, to allow for increases in so-called uncontrollable expenditures such as interest on the public debt, veterans' benefits and unemployment compensation.

By the end of that fiscal year, actual spending had reached $178.8 billion, or $3.2 billion above the ceiling.

Johnson, meanwhile, proposed a special 10 per cent income tax surcharge to help bring the government's fiscal affairs under control. The proposal led to a long dispute with Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., then chairman of the tax-writing Ways and Means Committee.

Mills refused to approve a tax increase unless it was tied to a cutback in proposed government outlays.

The law ultimately enacted contained the surcharge and also a provision designed to reduce by $6 billion the spending proposed for the year beginning July 1, 1968. The ceiling was set at $180.1 billion.

But the maximum again was exceeded, and by a larger margin than the previous year, with expenditures totaling $184.5 billion.

Congress now has its own budget-making machinery, which went partially into effect this year and will be fully in effect for the shaping of the budget for the 1977 fiscal year starting Oct. 1, 1976.

Opponents of Ford's plan argue that what they call a blind commitment to a fiscal 1977 spending ceiling of $395 billion — Ford's figure — would negate the new procedures, which call for item by item consideration of budget proposals by House and Senate committees and adoption, in two stages, of a congressional budget.

By comparison, spending in the current fiscal year is estimated to total $370 billion. Ford's proposal for a $395-billion spending limit next year represents a $25-billion increase over the current year but a $28-billion reduction over what the total would otherwise be.

The administration says it will provide details on proposed cutbacks but that the tentative proposals will not go to Congress or be made public until executive departments have had a chance to review them and make suggestions.

Girl Named To Academy

WASHINGTON (AP) — A 17-year-old Parma, Ohio, girl was nominated Tuesday to attend the U.S. Military Academy at West Point.

Lila E. Schwartz was one of 10 high school seniors from Ohio nominated by U.S. Rep. Ronald M. Mottl. Only one of the Ohio nominees will be selected.

Miss Schwartz, who attends Normandy High School, said was excited about the prospect of being in the first West Point class to include women. President Ford signed a bill last week making it possible for women to attend the three military academies.

Miss Schwartz said that although she was not a champion of "Women's Lib" she did believe strongly that women should have the same career opportunities as men.

"When she first talked about it, we sort of laughed," her mother Carol said about Lila's interest in the Army. "Now, we're thrilled."

Heating Oil Prices Going Up

NEW YORK (AP) — Home heating oil prices, which have been rising all summer, may increase another two to six cents a gallon this winter, according to dealers and government officials.

Supplies will probably be adequate unless a severe natural gas shortage causes a massive switch from gas to oil by large industrial users, they say.

Major uncertainties regarding prices are whether Congress and President Ford agree to extend price controls beyond Nov. 15 and whether Ford will decide to drop a $2-a-barrel tariff on imported crude oil.

With controls in place and the tariff on, the Federal Energy Administration predicts a rise of about two cents a gallon in heating oil prices by December.

With controls and the tariff off, the FEA says the price could rise about six cents a gallon, or to 38 cents a gallon wholesale.

The controls limit the prices charged on 40 per cent of domestic crude oil, but if removed the crude could rise to world market prices.

FEA says heating oil retail prices currently are around 38 cents a gallon, including a 6-to-8-cent-a-gallon dealers' markup.

Even without decontrol, some dealers groups in New York and New Hampshire are predicting 3-to-6-cents-a-gallon increases.

The price of home heating oil has risen steadily since just before the 1973 Arab embargo, when it sold for around 20 cents a gallon wholesale. Domestic producers attribute the rise to higher crude costs.

This past summer, despite slack demand and abundant supplies, heating oil prices continued to rise. Since May, for example, Mobil Oil Corp. has raised prices four cents and Texaco Inc. 4.6 cents a gallon.

Now, with winter approaching, many companies are shifting price pressure to heating oil from gasoline.

On Tuesday, Exxon Corp. announced a penny-a-gallon rise in the price of heating oil.

According to FEA, retail heating oil prices have risen from 25.4 cents a gallon in October 1973 to 37.9 cents a gallon in August.

Ford Unhurt In Auto Crash; Other Driver Had Green Light

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — A teenager who drove his car into President Ford's armored limousine said he entered the intersection and accidentally crashed into the presidential motorcade because he had a green light.

Ford was not hurt, but a member of his party was treated for a fractured finger after the incident Tuesday night.

The driver of the other car, 19-year-old James Salanites, was questioned and voluntarily took a sobriety test, Hartford police said. There were five other teen-agers in his Buick, but none of them was hurt.

"I don't see where he did anything wrong," police Lt. Thomas Grant said of the Meriden, Conn., teen. Police said no charges would be considered against Salanites until blood test results were available in several days.

It was the third incident to mar one of Ford's recent out-of-town journeys. He was the target of two alleged assassination attempts in California during separate visits in September.

A police spokesman, explaining how it was possible for an auto to get a clear run at Ford's car, said police were only guarding intersections within two blocks of the President's departure point. The incident occurred three blocks away.

"I feel fine, I feel great," Ford said shortly afterwards. The presidential limousine stopped only briefly before taking the President to the airport for the trip back to Washington.

A Secret Service spokesman said of the incident, there was "no reason to believe it was anything but an accident."

It was little more than a fender bender for the heavily fortified limousine. But the Buick sustained heavy damage in the front, which hit the limousine's right front fender.

There were calls for Ford to curtail his travels for security reasons after the recent assassination attempts, but he has continued his frequent forays, while taking care to appear before groups which were easily screened.

The GOP fund-raising dinner he was here to address Tuesday night was one such occasion, and there were no incidents. But it was less than a minute after Ford left the Civic Center where the dinner was held that Salanites' car barreled into the limousine.

The motorcade entered the intersection at Talcott and Market streets while the traffic signal was green, but witnesses said the light had changed to red when the limousine entered the cross-road and was hit by the Buick, which was described as moving rapidly.

Pistols drawn, Secret Service agents leaped from one car and surrounded the Buick. Police said Salanites emerged from his car and said the crash was an accident, explaining he saw the green light and simply proceeded through the intersection.

Authorities said it is normal procedure for the motorcade to continue against traffic lights.

Pool reporters said the President's limousine was stopped for only about 45 seconds before continuing along its route.

Frederik Biebel Jr., state GOP Chairman in Connecticut, suffered the fractured finger.

MAKING CIDER—Approximately 70 fourth grade students at Atwater School gathered together Thursday to make some homebrew apple cider. The three classes, taught by Mrs. Phyllis Gifford, Miss Sue Bennett and Miss Eileen Shaul, brought apples to school, sorted the various varieties, washed and cored them before putting them in the hopper or cider press. The cider was strained before teachers and students could drink the pure fruit drink. Dawson Parks and Art Gifford assisted the classes in making the cider.

Congressional Spending Ceiling Likely To Flop

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Ford administration's appeal to Congress to set a spending ceiling comes against the background of two other such ceilings in recent years that were both exceeded by actual spending.

Key Democrats in Congress, including Chairman George H. Mahon of the House Appropriations Committee, have cited those experiences as evidence that Ford's proposal to trade spending cuts for tax cuts is unworkable.

Neither of the previous ceilings involved spending cuts as deep as the $28 billion that Ford has insisted accompany any 1976 tax cut of the same amount. Ford says he will veto any tax cut that is not accompanied by a spending cut.

Both previous efforts to set spending ceilings were made by a Democratic-controlled Congress during the administration of a Democratic president, the late Lyndon B. Johnson. They came at a time when mounting costs of the Vietnam war, not offset by hold-downs in domestic programs, were causing heavy budget deficits.

Early in 1967, Congress passed a joint resolution setting an expenditure ceiling of $175.6 billion for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1967. There were holes in the ceiling, however, to allow for increases in so-called uncontrollable expenditures such as interest on the public debt, veterans' benefits and unemployment compensation.

By the end of that fiscal year, actual spending had reached $178.8 billion, or $3.2 billion above the ceiling.

Johnson, meanwhile, proposed a special 10 per cent income tax surcharge to help bring the government's fiscal affairs under control. The proposal led to a long dispute with Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., then chairman of the tax-writing Ways and Means Committee.

Mills refused to approve a tax increase unless it was tied to a cutback in proposed government outlays.

The law ultimately enacted contained the surcharge and also a provision designed to reduce by $6 billion the spending proposed for the year beginning July 1, 1968. The ceiling was set at $180.1 billion.

But the maximum again was exceeded, and by a larger margin than the previous year, with expenditures totaling $184.5 billion.

Congress now has its own budget-making machinery, which went partially into effect this year and will be fully in effect for the shaping of the budget for the 1977 fiscal year starting Oct. 1, 1976.

Opponents of Ford's plan argue that what they call a blind commitment to a fiscal 1977 spending ceiling of $395 billion — Ford's figure — would negate the new procedures, which call for item by item consideration of budget proposals by House and Senate committees and adoption, in two stages, of a congressional budget.

By comparison, spending in the current fiscal year is estimated to total $370 billion. Ford's proposal for a $395-billion spending limit next year represents a $25-billion increase over the current year but a $28-billion reduction over what the total would otherwise be.

The administration says it will provide details on proposed cutbacks but that the tentative proposals will not go to Congress or be made public until executive departments have had a chance to review them and make suggestions.

Girl Named To Academy

WASHINGTON (AP) — A 17-year-old Parma, Ohio, girl was nominated Tuesday to attend the U.S. Military Academy at West Point.

Lila E. Schwartz was one of 10 high school seniors from Ohio nominated by U.S. Rep. Ronald M. Mottl. Only one of the Ohio nominees will be selected.

Miss Schwartz, who attends Normandy High School, said was excited about the prospect of being in the first West Point class to include women. President Ford signed a bill last week making it possible for women to attend the three military academies.

Miss Schwartz said that although she was not a champion of "Women's Lib" she did believe strongly that women should have the same career opportunities as men.

"When she first talked about it, we sort of laughed," her mother Carol said about Lila's interest in the Army. "Now, we're thrilled."

Gas Customers Asked To Use Sniff Test

Columbia Gas customers in the Circleville area and elsewhere in the state will be asked to take a "scratch and sniff" test when they receive their current gas bills, according to Calvin Danford, manager for the gas company.

"Natural gas, as it comes from the ground, is odorless," Danford said. "So for many years the gas company has added an odorant to the gas before it is distributed to customers so that even slight traces can be detected."

To help customers become familiar with the "smell" of natural gas, the gas company is mailing a "scratch and sniff" insert with each customer's bill.

The company will also have a supply of the special inserts available at its offices where residents who are not gas customers can pick one up to learn what gas smells like.

A portion of a printed blue flame on the insert has been impregnated with the chemical additive that gives gas its odor. By scratching the flame and smelling it, customers can become familiar with the chemical's aroma, the manager said.

"We hope all members of the family will take the 'scratch and sniff' test," Danford said.

"Everyone should be able to recognize the odor of gas and know to call the gas company if they smell gas so that we can send a serviceman to investigate the problem."

Flirting With Disaster

As retired Chief of Naval Operations Elmo Zumwalt has spelled out so clearly, the United States is again flirting with disaster.

Zumwalt has said the U.S. Navy is now clearly inferior to that of the Soviet Union, and the U.S. will have to accommodate itself to Russian desires in the future because we have given away armed superiority.

Of course, this is a common failing with this nation. After we have won a war, we proceed to dismantle our armed forces.

In a report to the War Department by Gen. George C. Marshall in 1945, as World War II drew to a close, Marshall said, "We have tried since the birth of our nation to promote our love of peace by a display of weakness. This course has failed us utterly."

There is no reason to think that such a course will not fail us utterly once again.

Those officials and legislators in Washington who love to cut the defense budget had best remember that the Preamble to the Constitution lists provision for the common defense as second only to forming of a more perfect union, and before promoting the general welfare.

Without armed might, this nation will soon not be able to provide for any kind of general welfare, because we will be too busy yielding to the Russians.

An Old Man's Friend

By JIM BISHOP

ON THE ROAD — For a boy of 12, the last week of June is the time to look for work. Chipper Frechette, yellow-haired, big-toothed, wandered the hills of Holmdel, N. J., studying lawns. If he couldn't find work, he would have no spending money.

A thousand feet from his home, on another hill, he walked up to the ranch house of William Bisch. He was a small precise man, a retired engineer who had once worked with Thomas A. Edison. Mr. Bisch said no thanks; his sloping lawn was nine acres, too big for a little boy.

Chipper's blue eyes dropped to his shoes. He was not a little boy, he said softly. He could mow all the grass in the world, if he put his mind to it. Besides, his daddy said he had to find work.

The engineer gave it some thought. "Tell you what," he said. "I will give you employment as assistant grass cutter — I'll be the one up on the tractor."

They agreed on a reasonable price. Chipper held his hand out. It was a bargain. The two worked together through the shimmering hot days of summer. Little by little, the man, 76, and the boy, 12, built up a firm friendship.

Mr. Bisch told wondrous stories of his life with Edison. Chipper told great tales of what he planned to do with his life. Within a few weeks, Chipper was allowed to guide the tractor over the hill. He obeyed every law Mr. Bisch handed down.

The engineer was given to moments of sadness. He told Chip that he had a bad heart. He felt close to the end of his life. The boy felt depressed. He told his mother that Mr. Bisch couldn't die "because we have so many plans." His mother told him to eat his dinner.

One day the young friend asked the old friend if he had ever been married. Indeed yes, Mr. Bisch said. His wife was Clara, a beautiful woman. When they grew old, she became obsessed with the fear that her husband would die of a heart attack and leave her alone.

He built a big ranch house for her, so that she might think the marriage would go on forever. But he had sustained heart seizures, and Dr. George Sheehan put Mr. Bisch in Riverview Hospital. Mrs. Bisch could not live with fear, so she died with it. She swallowed a handful of pills.

The little boy became defensive about his friend. He could not permit his seven brothers and sisters to joke about Mr. Bisch. The summer died, but Mr. Bisch seemed brighter. The little boy sought excuses to jog the thousand feet and be of small service to his buddy.

At Easter, Chipper was selling chocolate Easter bunnies. The big lawn slept under a white blanket. "I'll take a dozen," Mr. Bisch said. "Here is the money." "No sir," Chip said. "You pay when I deliver the bunnies."

"Son," the man said, "that may be too late." The boy went home weeping.

One night a storm knocked the phone wires down. A police car stopped to ask if Mr. Bisch needed assistance. "No," he said, "but if I do, I'll snap the lawn lights on."

The cop told Mr. and Mrs. Charles Frechette. They could see Mr. Bisch's lights from their bedroom. "We'll take turns watching," Mr. Frechette said. He is head of the volunteer ambulance corps.

Chipper said, "No, please. You two go to bed. I'll go over and sleep on a couch near Mr. Bisch. He's my personal friend." He dozed and awakened all night. In the morning, the old man said he never had such a loyal friend. He gave a valuable coin collection to Chipper. The boy refused. "Take it," Mr. Bisch said. "I want you to remember me."

In the summer, Chipper got lucky and won two tickets to the circus. He ran to the house on the hill and gave one ticket to Mr. Bisch. The old man's throat became thick, his eyes misty. "Thank you," he said. "Thank you, Chipper."

The boy was practicing football in oversize pads when his mother beckoned him home. "Sit," she said. "Chipper, I want you to brace yourself." He sat like a little man. His parents told him that Mr. Bisch had been picked up by the volunteer ambulance an hour ago. He died before he got to the hospital.

Suddenly, the strain of manhood was too much. Chipper burst into tears and buried his head in his mother's lap. "Oh, Mom," he moaned. We had so many, many plans."

NEW YORK (AP) — At this time of year the economic forecasters usually are well into the process of constructing their projections for the coming year.

It's an old tradition, and one that many of the very esteemed names will have nothing to do with, feeling that it is somehow a prostitution of their calling, a bit like putting them in a category with fortune tellers.

In fact, it is as distasteful to some renowned academics as is the inclination of some of their colleagues to join the political bandwagon of one party or another, for politics, it is maintained, compromises good economics.

Those economists who ply their trade in the business world, however, cannot have the luxury of simply analyzing events after they occur. They are paid to look ahead, to foretell, and even suggests what moves to make.

So the tradition continues, and as always the same cry is heard: "There are too many imponderables this year."

Can you imagine inviting an economist to your annual convention, paying him a stiff fee and taking care of his room, board and entertainment, and not squeezing out of him a forecast?

Can you imagine an economist turning down the opportunity of making the same 40-minute speech to three different conventions in two weeks and collecting three four-figure fees while enjoying the sun and relaxing?

Can you imagine a commercial bank that must, for its own purposes, attempt to look far into the future, not sharing its views with its big corporate customers? Or a highly paid consultant declining to go out on a limb?

The forecasts, therefore, will be spilling forth in profusion between now and Christmas, despite a record of unsuccessful over the past four years that in individual instances is quite lamentable pin forecasting prices, for example, none other than the President's Council of Economic Advisers has understated the fact in 11 of the past 14 years, even though they did have more success in anticipating broad economic directions.

To praise economic forecasters, says Arthur Okun, a former chairman of the council of advisers, is "like saying that the Titanic had a good trip except for that iceberg."

You may be certain, therefore, that the early forecasts will call your attention to the icebergs, which is the equivalent of telling the Titanic's passengers that "we'll be in New York as scheduled if we don't hit one of those things."

Lion Cub Problem For Police

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Interested in owning a seven-month-old African lion that eats about $5 a day worth of food?

The police department in suburban Englewood would like to find a home for Fritz, a 125-pounder that fell into their hands last weekend.

Police Chief Robert B. Koverman said the animal was turned over by the owner, whom he declined to identify, after the family moved away and left Fritz incarcerated in a small room behind a garage.

Apparently suffering from rickets — an ailment blamed on malnutrition — the lion was described in poor condition after an examination at the Englewood Animal Hospital, Koverman said.

Meanwhile, he was returned to his garage home where authorities said they have given him seven pounds of meat and other food — costing about $50 — since Saturday.

The chief said an investigation is under way to determine whether to charge the former owner with a crime. One officer said a battery-powered cattle prod was found near the garage, and may have been used on the cat. There was no water in the garage room, Koverman said.

Fred Troop, executive director of the Montgomery County Humane Society, said his organization will seek to file charges if the police do not.

Koverman said police already have had offers from persons and agencies indicating an interest in Fritz, and added that he "is ours now, so we will try to find him a good home."

The National Automobile Club in a survey has discovered that, besides reducing accidents, the 55 m.p.h. speed limit also helps prevent engine overheating.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Is there any truth to the idea that drinking a glass of warm milk before going to bed makes it easier to fall asleep?

Miss L. O., N.J.

Dear Miss O.: This idea, once thought to be a myth created by solicitous mothers and grandmothers, may, indeed, have some scientific validity.

A recent study at Tufts University School of Medicine in Massachusetts concentrated on just this concept. It was found that a special amino acid, L-tryptophan, normally found in milk, did have a tendency to induce restful sleep.

A large group of students were divided in half. One half were given the amino acid. The other half took a sugar-coated tablet.

Those who were taking the amino acid seemed to fall asleep more rapidly and slept more soundly.

There may also be some soothing psychological value to taking warm milk before bedtime — assuming you enjoy warm milk.

It is amazing how often a family "remedy" attributed to the wisdom of grandmothers is ultimately found to have some semblance of scientific truth.

During an X-ray examination it was found that I have a kidney stone. I never have had any of the painful attacks that other people seem to have. Will surgery be necessary to remove it?

R. F., Minn.

Dear Mr. F.: A stone in the kidney or in the ureter, the tube that leads from the kidney to the bladder, usually produces excruciating pain. Anyone who has ever had a "passing stone" will attest to the spasm and the radiating pain it causes.

There are occasional stones that are considered "silent" stones. These tiny, silent stones do not cause obstruction, kidney colic or back pain.

The decision as to treatment, medical or surgical, depends, of course, on a complete examination, including X-ray studies of the entire urinary tract. Only then can the exact approach to your particular problem be determined.

SPEAKING OF YOUR HEALTH . . . Nail biting in children is usually a sign of inner tension. Sympathetic understanding, rather than punishment, is the correct approach until the exact cause is determined.

THE HIGH DRYER VS. THE SHORT USER . . .

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Chilled By Beau's Show

DEAR ABBY: Please help me settle an argument. A few nights ago, I was out with the same gal I always date. We're pretty close. She's very independent about a lot of things, such as opening doors for herself and things like that. Well, I learned to live with that until the following incident occurred:

We stopped at a garage to have something fixed on my car, and because she's a pretty good-looking girl, the mechanic began flirting with her. To start with, this annoyed both of us. When his talk became offensive, I spoke up and straightened him out.

Afterwards, my girl became upset with me, saying it was HER place to straighten the mechanic out if she thought he was out of line.

Granted, if she were alone, it would have been her place. But since she was with me, I thought it was MY place.

What do you think?

CHIVALRY LIVES

DEAR CHIV: Most women would be angry with a date who failed to straighten out a presumptuous stranger, but maybe your gal enjoyed it.

In any case, now that you know she prefers to fight her own battles, either give her that privilege or find a less militantly independent girl.

DEAR ABBY: Even though I am only 13, I have made up my mind to do something I think is very important. Before reading your column I never even gave it a thought, but now I would like to donate my kidneys and eyes to someone else after I die.

Juveniles need kidneys, too, and cannot use adult ones, so in case I die before I become an adult, I'd like to leave whatever organs are still usable to some child who needs them.

Abby, I am not planning on dying soon, so please don't feel sorry for me. LAURA MYERS, GARDEN CITY, CALIF.

DEAR LAURA: To become donors, minors need the consent of their parents or guardians. And, Laura, please tell your parents for me that they have a beautiful daughter!

DEAR ABBY: I wrote to you 10 years ago, but I didn't take your advice. My problem was that after 33 years of marriage, I found out my husband was having an affair with a young woman who worked for him.

I told you that although I still loved him, I wanted to end our marriage.

You told me that I should bide my time, that as long as I still loved him I should try to forgive and forget, and that I should keep my marriage together, which is what he wanted to do.

My pride was so hurt, that I divorced him, anyway. He still married the young woman, but soon afterwards, he started coming me, telling me that he had made a terrible mistake. He said he still loved me, could never forgive himself for what he had done and wanted to come "home."

My pride still wouldn't let me take him back. Well, he died a year ago. He left a little something to his second wife, but the bulk of his estate he left to me. He was a rich man, and now I am a rich woman, but that doesn't matter. I guess he really did love me.

I wish I had taken your advice, Abby.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Chilled By Beau's Show

DEAR ABBY: Please help me settle an argument. A few nights ago, I was out with the same gal I always date. We're pretty close. She's very independent about a lot of things, such as opening doors for herself and things like that. Well, I learned to live with that until the following incident occurred:

We stopped at a garage to have something fixed on my car, and because she's a pretty good-looking girl, the mechanic began flirting with her. To start with, this annoyed both of us. When his talk became offensive, I spoke up and straightened him out.

Afterwards, my girl became upset with me, saying it was HER place to straighten the mechanic out if she thought he was out of line.

Granted, if she were alone, it would have been her place. But since she was with me, I thought it was MY place.

What do you think?

CHIVALRY LIVES

DEAR CHIV: Most women would be angry with a date who failed to straighten out a presumptuous stranger, but maybe your gal enjoyed it.

In any case, now that you know she prefers to fight her own battles, either give her that privilege or find a less militantly independent girl.

DEAR ABBY: Even though I am only 13, I have made up my mind to do something I think is very important. Before reading your column I never even gave it a thought, but now I would like to donate my kidneys and eyes to someone else after I die.

Juveniles need kidneys, too, and cannot use adult ones, so in case I die before I become an adult, I'd like to leave whatever organs are still usable to some child who needs them.

Abby, I am not planning on dying soon, so please don't feel sorry for me. LAURA MYERS, GARDEN CITY, CALIF.

DEAR LAURA: To become donors, minors need the consent of their parents or guardians. And, Laura, please tell your parents for me that they have a beautiful daughter!

DEAR ABBY: I wrote to you 10 years ago, but I didn't take your advice. My problem was that after 33 years of marriage, I found out my husband was having an affair with a young woman who worked for him.

I told you that although I still loved him, I wanted to end our marriage.

You told me that I should bide my time, that as long as I still loved him I should try to forgive and forget, and that I should keep my marriage

Editor Speaks At Monday Kiwanis Club

Steve Jones, editor of The Herald, was the speaker at Circleville Kiwanis Club Monday when it met at Pickaway Arms.

He was introduced by Gene Dowler, chairman for National Newspaper Week program observed by the Kiwanis Club.

In telling of the responsibilities of the newspaper, the editor said that news must be reported accurately and honestly, the newspaper must use responsible judgement, be a leader in the community, and emphasize the positive side of the news.

He emphasized the service provided by the advertisements in the newspaper and said that people should read the entire newspaper, not just the front page.

Guests at the meeting included H. F. Whipple and John Dowler. Key Club members on hand were Kenny Good and Jerry Strawser. "Keyed" to attend this week's meeting of the Circleville High School Key Club were Wes Barton and John Raterman.

Debbie Keller, the Kiwanis pianist, presented a piano solo. Singing was led by Dave Gillespie.

Reports were given by Waldo Martin concerning the Kiwanis pancake booth, by Dick Penn concerning pumpkin pies to be sold at the booth, by Jim Talbott regarding the pet parade.

President Ray Cundiff announced the annual presidents Party is scheduled Oct. 27 at the Presbyterian Church.

Walter Hall, chairman of the Kiwanis Charity Newsie announced that all ad kits must be returned within the next ten days.

Hal Whitfield, program chairman for November, announced that Farmers Night will be held Nov. 17. Guest speaker for that meeting will be John Stevenson who will talk on "The Cost of Farm Crops."

Cundiff closed the meeting urging all Kiwanians to remember their shifts at the pancake booth and to make themselves available to ride on the Kiwanis float during parades.

Logan Elm Celebration Featured In Magazine

The field trip turned bicentennial celebration originated by Logan Elm teachers Harry Hoffer and Dean Barr has been given national coverage. A four-page story on the venture was printed in the October issue of "American Education" published by the United States Department of Health Education and Welfare, office of education.

Judith Wagner, a free-lance writer from Toledo, interviewed mathematics teacher Barr and history teacher Hoffer and published several candid shots of the students participating in Logan Elm's celebration of the 200th birthday of our nation.

According to the article, the George D. McDowell Exchange School is built on land which was once traversed by Indians. This is probably what inspired the celebration. The project began last October as an eighth grade field trip commemorating Chief Logan's speech made in 1774. The project was continued and grew into what is now referred to as Heritage '76.

Heritage '76 is divided into 12 units including other field trips, in-depth studies of various customs and institutions of Americana as well as school displays and observations.

McDowell teachers report increased rapport between themselves and the students and a reduction in discipline problems. Students, on the other hand, testify that their appreciation of local heritage has been increased.

The article won the Bicentennial Award from the magazine publishers.

Hey, whaddaya know, that Easterday woman is really on the stick this week and getting things done early for a change. And let me tell you this old gal really feels considerably better these past few days, too. But when what else when it is Pumpkin Fever time! And we are expecting guests from Huntington, W. Va. and Columbus, Ind.

The schedule of riders for our local festival float will have the teen royalty winners riding on Wednesday night; the top six royalty (i.e. teen queen and king, pre-teen queen and king and little princess and prince) on Thursday night; Pre-teen Royalty on Friday night; all the royalty—the whole cake of wax on Saturday night and in the afternoon parade we will have our little royalty winners.

It depends on our float number which afternoon we go—Thursday or Friday. It is Pumpkin Show procedure for the even numbered floats to go in one afternoon parade and the uneven numbers in the other afternoon and since numbers will be given to the floats at judging time on Wednesday we do not know at this time our day.

Congratulations to little Miss Tracey Wisecup for being chosen to represent Jackson Elementary School in the Little Miss contest Wednesday afternoon. Tracey is the darling daughter of beautiful people Gary and Sandy Clark Wisecup.

The little Miss Pumpkin Show is a real "toughie" this year for me because so many of the youngsters are special favorites and what's a person to do? Only three of them can be the top winners. However, in my book they are all real winners just for trying and for being themselves.

Riding for Easterday Welding this year will be "adollable" Michele Dean who brightens the home of Jim and Karen Lanman Dean. And this is when a person really feels their age because Karen was in my Girl Scout troop way back when even though it seems like just a short time ago. Can't be though because Karen is "fully growned" with a child in the first grade. Turn back, oh, turn back time in thy flight.

Best wishes go to Barbara Mace, daughter of Harold and Norma Mace, who has been selected to represent Westfall's Junior class for Miss Pumpkin Show. Barb is one of "Our" girls, too.

I haven't written much about my Marvie baby Thompson lately but at Pumpkin Show time he and his Dolly are so busy building floats that give so much pleasure to all those who enjoy watching the parade go by. This year they will be entering real eyecatchers. So will our mutual good buddy Belle Sowers who captured grand champion last year and deservedly so.

Belle and her Gentleman Jim were at my Friday night "stomping grounds", the Valley House for their fill of seafood this past Friday night. You better believe I was there, too. Another couple from our area, the Caldwelles, were also there. They are almost as much a regular as I am.

Beginning to get the habit are member of the Cook family of Don's Salvage. Our local newspaper publisher Mrs. Fred (Esta) Tipton and guests were giving it a go Friday night, too. I don't doubt there are others from around here but my group always goes rather early and naturally we miss those who eat a later dinner. Much as I like the Pumpkin Show I like seafood better so see you at the Valley House. Do hope my chum Mary Alice Greenwood is up to going this week. Time will tell.

Taking advantage of the perfectly gorgeous fall weekend were Harry and Cora Young, Anna and Sheryl Cox. The foursome drove down to Kentucky and thoroughly enjoyed the changing season as well as being with relatives for a happy visit.

The weekend before Winford and Alice Rigsby were in Paintsville, Kentucky and spent the time with a sister and her family. Debbie Rigsby stayed here with her close friend Kristi Lane and Larry Rigsby gave a helping hand to local farmer Don Greenwood in the harvesting of the fall crops.

Exciting plans are on the agenda for Dorothy Mahorney and two of her daughters, Norma (Mrs. John) Drummond of our village and Lille Mae "Babe" (Mrs. Floyd) Copley of Frankfort. Saturday they will jet out from Columbus airport with destination Modesto, California and a happy reunion with Dorothy's brother Eugene Shonkwiler. While in California they will do the whole tourist bit for several days.

The Mahorneys, Dorothy and "Rocky," had the pleasure of having her sister Nettie Burkhardt of Oklamoma as a houseguest for two weeks. This past Saturday was birthday celebration time for Dorothy and what a blast it was since along with sister Nettie there also brother Glen Shonkwiler and his Helen from Buffalo, W. Va. sister Vivian Lowe and her husband Chester from Columbus, brother Bill Shonkwiler and his Betty from our town, nephew Hank Harrison and his Mrs. AND THEIR son J. P. from Zanesville, grandsons Raymond Wheeler and Floyd Copley, Jr. from Frankfort and son-in-law Floyd Copley of Frankfort, daughter Norma and her ever lovin' John Drummond, Williamsporters and later in the evening daughter "Babe" Copley joined the family gathering. What a happy birthday that surely was for Dorothy and may she be blessed with many more.

Sunday was laymen's day at the United Methodist Church and lay speaker Bill Carter did his usual good job of bringing the message to the congregation. One question he posed was why sports enthusiasts who become quite eager to cheer their favorite team on to bigger and better things are called "fans" but a person equally as enthused about spreading the good word of the Bible are termed "fanatics." Interesting that the first three letters of fanatic spell fan! Let us use this for our think about this week.

Oh, by the way, Aunt Gladys Arledge made the request during Sunday worship service that anyone interested in serving a month on flowers for the altar to let her know just as soon as possible as the 1976 yearbooks are being readied. Give her a phone call at 986-3091.

See you at the Pumpkin Show. Have a good time but drive carefully since the traffic will be heavier than usual. Be with you again next week, be the Lord willing. Take care.

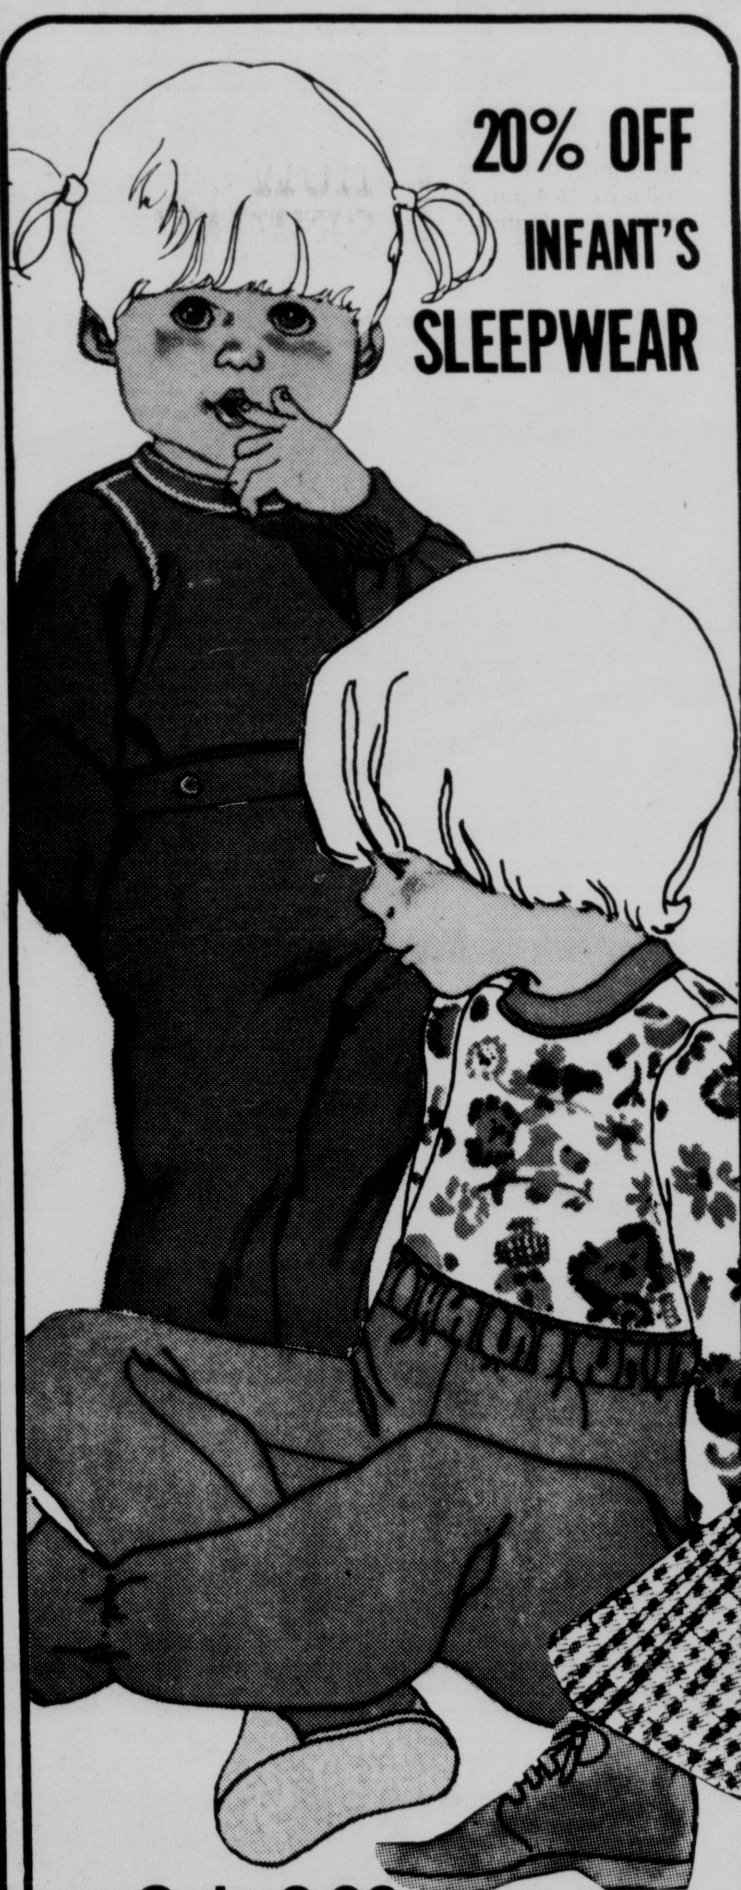

Fire Information Given Incorrectly

The Circleville Fire Department recently reported a fire in a clothes dryer at the David Betts residence.

Betts advised us that this information was incorrect since he recalls no such fire and one which destroyed a dryer and a load of clothes would be difficult to forget for a homeowner.

Further investigation reveals the fire was actually at the Larry Betts residence on Ottawa Drive in Logan Elm Village.

LEAD CHARACTERS—Rene Saxton of Reynoldsburg and Twana Moats of Circleville will star in Roundtown Players' musical "Brigadoon" which opens Nov. 6 at Memorial Hall. A special ceremony is being planned opening night for the unveiling of the new seating area. Tickets will be on sale beginning Oct. 24 at the box office outside the theatre entrance.

Twana Moats, Rene Saxton Head 'Brigadoon' Cast Of 32

Circleville native Twana Moats, and Rene Saxton of Reynoldsburg head the cast of 32 which will present Roundtown Players' fifth annual Fall Musical "Brigadoon" November 6, 7, 8, 9, 13, 14, and 15 in the newly remodeled Memorial Hall Theater.

Miss Moats, a teacher of speech and drama at Logan Elm High School, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Moats of Route 4. A graduate of Logan Elm, Twana toured with a drama group while attending Asbury College in Kentucky, where she graduated with a major in speech.

Among her theatrical credits are "I Never Sang for My Father", "Much Ado About Nothing", "Christ in the Concrete City", "Hello Dolly", and "Which is the Way to Boston" broadcast over WTVL radio, Kentucky.

Twana is appearing for the first time in a RP production in the leading role of Fiona MacLaren, a Scottish lass who lives in the forgotten town of Brigadoon which has remained unchanged for centuries, appearing to outsiders only once every hundred years.

When the town reappears in this century, two American tourists happen across it. One of them, Tommy Albright, portrayed by Rene Saxton, falls in love with Fiona but is torn between his love for her and his reluctance to give up his present-day lifestyle and family ties in New York.

"Brigadoon" marks Saxton's third appearance in a Roundtown Players' production. Last season he won an audience appreciation award for his starring role as Buddy in the comedy "Come Blow Your Horn". Rene also appeared in last season's musical, "Sound of Music" as Rolf. He starred as Charlie in "You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown" for ACT, and as Hero in "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum" for both the Worthington Community Theater and Little Theater Off Broadway in Grove City.

Saxton is employed as a private assistant to former professional boxer Al Haft. Currently a student hairstylist at the Ohio State School of Cosmetology, Saxton also attended the University of Kentucky where he majored in voice.

Young's team of five students won over 12 other teams of Hocking Tech natural resources students who competed in chainsaw, two-man crosscut and Jack and Jill contests. Young's contribution to his team's effort was in the chainsaw contest where he cut through an 8-by-8-inch timber in 13.8 seconds.

More than 10,000 people attended the three-day show which included Ohio and invitational lumberjack championships, log rolling and canoe jousting and exhibits and demonstrations by nearly 50 logging industry manufacturers.

In its regular meeting Monday night, the Amanda-Clearcreek Board of Education voted to increase the salary paid to substitute teachers. Effective Oct. 14, the substitutes will be paid $25 instead of $21 as previously paid.

This rate will apply to those substituting from one to 15 days. Teachers who stay in the same position from 16 to 59 days will receive $30 per day and those staying after 60 days in the same position will be placed in the zero step on the regular teachers' salary schedule.

In other action during the evening, the board accepted the resignation of Carolyn Julian as a substitute cook and

Jeff Arndt was employed as the high school wrestling coach; Edward Stickle as the eighth grade basketball coach; Bruce Ebert as the seventh grade basketball coach; and Richard Smith as the athletic director.

The board was informed that there has been a tremendous positive response to the employment of the school nurse, Judith Miller, in the district. Seven tenths of Mrs. Miller's salary is funded by the Ohio Department of Education Disadvantaged Pupil Program Funds which also provide salaries for the teacher aides program in the district.

Elmwood Kim, president of the board of education, informed the other board members that he is moving out of the district and therefore submitted his resignation effective Nov. 1. He expressed his appreciation to the board, the staff, students and people of the community for the opportunity of serving.

A new salary schedule for coaching positions was adopted beginning with the winter sports coaches.

The meeting was continued until 7 p.m. on Oct. 20 at the Stoutsville Building.

JUNIOR BEEF

NOW . . . SUPER DUPER OFFERS YOU A CHOICE . . .

Famous True Value Trim USDA Choice Grade Beef or the All New lean, thrifty, Junior Beef. Junior Beef is 350-450 lb. selected young beef that is high in protein, but lower in fat than mature beef* This means a lower price, plus more edible meat. Since the meat from these animals lacks the marbling of beef from mature grain fed cattle, the texture and flavor are somewhat different. Each week Super Duper will maintain a separate Junior Beef Section at the meat cases.

WE'RE SO SURE YOU'LL BE PLEASED WITH OUR NEW JUNIOR BEEF THAT WE GUARANTEE IT 100% FOR YOUR SATISFACTION

COLD MEATS ARE TYPES OF SAUSAGE

Most people think of sausage as being meat products such as fresh bulk pork sausage, smoked sausage, links, bratwurst, pepperoni and other smoked and dried meat products. But the ready-to-serve meats such as bologna, pickle and pimiento loaf, olive loaf and others are also types of sausage.

Package labels on cold meats tell you all the inside facts on the outside. All meat is used to describe sausage products made exclusively of skeletal meat cuts. No fillers such as cereal or dry milk solids are used. If any organ meats or fillers are used the product cannot be labeled all meat.

A pure beef label carries the same restrictions as all meat except that the skeletal meat used must be 100 per cent beef.

Fully cooked means that the products have been precooked completely. The meat can be eaten without further cooking or can be heated.

Vacuum sealing is a packaging technique that keeps meat fresher longer. Many of these meats are labeled with a freshness date. When you see "Sell By Oct. 29" on a package it doesn't mean that his product will be no good after that date.

The date represents the last day the item will be sold so that homemakers will have a reasonable length of time to store and use the product at home. Store these meats in the refrigerator and use within a week to 10 days.

Ready-to-serve meats are not limited to cold sandwiches. In this recipe, bologna, ground and pizza sauce are combined in an open face sandwich that is served in some school lunch programs.

PIZZABURGERS

1/2 lb. Ground Beef

1/4 lb. Bologna, Ground

1/4 Tsp. Sage

1/4 Tsp. Salt

1/2 Tsp. Oregano

3/4 Cup Spaghetti Sauce

3/4 Cup Processed American Cheese, Grated

3 Buns Or English Muffins, Split

Brown ground beef slowly in a skillet and pour off fat. Grind in a good grinder or chop into very small pieces. Combine ground beef, bologna and all other ingredients except cheese and buns. Spread mixture on buns and sprinkle with grated cheese. Place buns in shallow baking dish and bake in the oven at 350 deg. F. until cheese melts. This recipe makes five to six open face sandwiches.

For 1976, Dodge introduces a store full of values.

CORONET is all family car. More than enough room for six. Plus a large trunk to match. Coronet—it'll be a welcome addition to your family.

CHARGER has a new low price for '76. And now there are four Chargers to pick from. All with the ride, handling, and good looks Charger is known for.

SPORTSMAN is the most versatile wagon on the road. The Maxiwagon seats up to 15. And Dodge gives you a bigger choice of Sportsman-type wagons than anyone.

MONACO has all the luxury you could ask for. Along with all the room, comfort, security and convenience you expect in a full-sized car.

SWINGER makes "small" easy to live with. It's got room for six. Basic operating economy. And a dependable reputation.

RAMCHARGER takes you where the action is. Four-wheel drive is great for main road, back road, or where there's no road at all.

If you have a head for cars,
head for Dodge.

Reds Take Disputed 3rd World Series Game

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Big Red Machine is in the driver's seat of the World Series, thanks to some sudden power and a spark from a home plate collision.

The Cincinnati Reds unlimbered their big guns and turned a controversial play at home to their advantage for a 6-5, 10-inning victory Tuesday night and a 2-1 lead in baseball's Fall Classic.

In tonight's fourth game, the Reds send lefty Fred Norman against Boston right-handed ace Luis Tiant at 8:30 p.m. EDT.

"We won tonight because we're lucky...because the good Lord takes care of us," said Manager Sparky Anderson.

Anderson could think of no other way to describe the Reds' bittersweet victory in Game 3—a pulsating, tense affair that had everything, including the most talked-about play of the 1975 World Series so far.

This was the situation: with the game tied at 5-5 and a runner at first in the 10th inning, Anderson ordered pinch hitter Ed Armbrister to lay down a sacrifice bunt. Armbrister did as expected, but something unexpected followed.

The ball hopped a few feet in front of home plate and Boston catcher Carlton Fisk charged to field it. He had difficulty getting to it, however, because Armbrister was in his way.

When Fisk picked up the ball, he threw toward second base in an attempt to get the lead runner. But the throw was wild into center field and the Reds suddenly had runners on second and third base because of the error.

The play triggered a protest from the Boston bench, particularly Fisk and Manager Darrell Johnson. They felt that the batter had interfered with Fisk's play and therefore should have been called out by home plate umpire Larry Barnett.

The play became all the more crucial, because the Reds loaded the bases and went on to win the contest on Joe Morgan's single.

A seething Fisk had nothing pleasant to say about Barnett after the bitter defeat at Riverfront Stadium.

"He blew it two ways," the Boston catcher said of Barnett. "The first time was when he didn't call interference on the play. The second time was when he didn't call the man out because I probably tagged him after I got the ball."

"You might as well throw a cross body block on the catcher, knock him down and go to first. It's a damn shame to have a call like that in such a game. I think it was a double play ball except for the interference. Instead, I get hit, throw the ball into center field and they wind up with runners on second and third with none out."

Johnson was equally incensed.

"I don't need to read the rule out of the rule book," he said. "We all know the rule and Armbrister did interfere with Fisk. The man is entitled to run to first base, but the runner can not come into contact with the fielder before he has the opportunity to field it."

"I went up to the plate umpire and when I didn't get any satisfaction, I went to the first base umpire. I didn't get any satisfaction from him, either. He just shrugged and didn't say anything. Their interpretation of the rule is obviously different from mine."

Barnett, of course, had his own interpretation of the rules, as did the Cincinnati camp.

"I ruled that it was simply a collision," Barnett said. "It is interference only when the batter intentionally gets in the way of the fielder. I signalled that the ball was fair and in play."

Dick Stello, the first base umpire who backed up Barnett during the heated Boston protests on the field, said: "It was not interference. In such a situation, the batter has as much right to go to first base as the fielder has to go for the ball. To make it interference, the batter would have had to intentionally try to impede the fielder from going for the ball. He did not do this."

As was expected, Armbrister swore up and down that he did nothing intentional to block Fisk's way.

"I hit the ball in front of the plate and it bounced high," said the player in the middle of the dramatic controversy. "I started to break for first and Fisk just came from behind and bumped me. The play was behind me, and if he hit from behind, I would say he interfered with me."

If it wasn't for what Sparky Anderson called his "stupid" mistake, the whole business wouldn't have happened.

The Reds had a 5-3 lead going into the ninth inning with reliever Will McEnaney seemingly in control of things. The Reds' left-handed bullpen ace struck out Fred Lynn for the first out and the crowd of 55,392 at Riverfront settled back for what looked like a comfortable Cincinnati victory.

Then McEnaney gave up a single to Rico Petrocelli and Anderson brought in Rawly Eastwick to face Dwight Evans. He didn't face him too long, for the Boston outfielder promptly parked one of his pitches into the left field seats to tie the game and send it toward its unpredictable climax.

"I made a dumb mistake, it's as simple as that," Anderson said. "I should have had Eastwick in there a batter earlier pitching to Petrocelli. I waited one batter too long to bring in a right-hander against Petrocelli."

Disappointed by the Boston lightning in the ninth inning, Morgan said the Reds weren't down by any means.

"We had the same situation in Pittsburgh (in the playoffs)," Morgan said. "We didn't panic. I just told Rawly to get them out and we would get a run."

Cesar Geronimo got things started in the 10th with a single and moved to third on the controversial bunt play. The Red Sox issued an intentional walk to Pete Rose to load the bases. Pinch hitter Merv Rettenmund struck out before Morgan came through.

Earlier, Johnny Bench hit a two-run homer for the Reds in the fourth. And Dave Concepcion and Geronimo blasted homers in the fifth, when Cincinnati scored three times. Before Evans' game-tying wallop, the Red Sox got solo homers from Fisk in the second and Bernie Carbo in the seventh. The total of six shots tied a World Series record for most homers by two teams in a game.

County Gridders In League Contests

It will be league action for all three county schools this week with unbeaten Westfall hosting Huntington and Teays Valley traveling to West Jefferson in a pair of Friday night games and Logan Elm going to Lancaster Fisher Catholic in a Saturday night encounter.

Coach John Glanton will be sending his Mustangs after their seventh straight victory when they meet the Huntsmen in a Scioto Valley Conference clash.

New Huntington coach Jim Woods has a young and inexperienced squad but has a few returning veterans to anchor this year's squad. Woods figures that defense is going to be his strong point and figures they can be tough with a few good breaks.

The Mustangs will rely on their strong running game, powered by John Long and Tony Simon, to put another victory in the book. The hard running Mustangs backs have been getting a lot of help up front from a forward wall that has been blowing holes in the opposition and sending the Westfall backs running to daylight.

The Red and Gray offense has been putting the points on the scoreboard but the Mustangs defense has proven to be a real tartar as they just hate to give up yardage and points.

Coach Dick Kidwell and his Teays Valley gridders will be out to get untracked and back on the trail when they take on the Rough Riders in what is always a tough Metropolitan League clash.

The Blue and Gold gridders stand 1-3 in league play and hold an overall mark of 1-5. They are currently tied for sixth place in the league but are too good of a ball team to be there and should make their move up the ladder with a few breaks.

West Jefferson is tied for fourth spot in the league with a record of 2-2. The Rough Riders, who are 5-4 last season have only six returning lettermen, four starters. However, two of the starters are backs Jim Froncek and Craig Hausinger who give West Jeff offensive strength.

The Vikings have been running into tough luck and with a few breaks could have been near the top of the heap in the Metro.

For example, last week the Vikings dropped a 22-16 decision to Marysville when on the last play of the game the Vikings had a man open in the endzone for what should have been a touchdown but a Marysville defender popped out of nowhere to deflect the ball and send the Vikings to another narrow defeat. Sooner or later, the ball is going to begin to bounce in favor of the Vikings and that will make a big difference.

Coach Perry Griffith and his Logan Elm squad ran into a real strong opponent last week when they tangled with the Indians of Canal Winchester and came out on the shortend of the count.

The Braves had revised their offense several weeks ago and were getting a solid ground game, powered by Jeff Reichelderfer and averaging about 300 yards per game, until they hit the solid defense of the Indians.

But, the Braves have the weapons, both offensively and defensively, with an offense line that can move the opposition and give the Braves running room.

Logan Elm is now 3-2 in Mid State League play and 3-3 overall. They will be out to make it 4-2 in the league Saturday night when the ytriangle with Fisher Catholic 10-5 in league and 1-5 overall, who is in a rebuilding stage and are a little on the small size.

CHS Harriers Win Dual

Circleville defeated Greenfield 15-50 Tuesday in a cross country meet. The Tiger harriers now have a 7-2 record for the season.

CHS runners captured the first eight places in the meet. Dave Uland was first in 11:01, Rusty Holbrook was second in 11:10, Doug Baker third in 11:11, Tom Taylor fourth in 11:20, Randy Speakman fifth in 11:25, Dave Holbrook sixth in 11:30, Joel Baker seventh in 11:32 and Greg Lundburg eighth in 11:40.

Tim Milstead was 13th and Richard Boulden 16th.

The Tigers will host Hamilton Twp., Logan and Westfall Thursday.

U.S. Has Setback In Pan-Am Games

MEXICO CITY (AP) — What was supposed to be a rout is instead — suddenly, shockingly — a race.

After just two days of competition in the VII Pan American Games, the Americans find their ranks somewhat stunned, in disarray, trying to regroup in the face of a headlong assault by the upstart Cubans.

The heavily favored U.S. effort, backed by more than a million dollars, was tied with Cuba in total medals, 26, but trailed by a decisive 14-11 margin in gold medals.

Jackson And Saleet Top MAC Players

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Bowling Green's Sherill Jackson and Dan Saleet have been named as the Mid-American Conference football players of the week.

Both were standouts in Bowling Green's 34-17 victory over arch rival Toledo last Saturday. Jackson is a defensive back while Saleet operated from both the fullback and tailback spots.

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR THURSDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): You have the inside track in a number of ways — if you will just recognize opportunities when available and handle them in your usual clever manner.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Excellent Venus influences! Get into the spirit of things and do your utmost to advance your interests. Creative pursuits especially favored.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Do not wait for opportunities to materialize "out of the blue." Seek them out yourself. A period for exercising your lively imagination and innate ingenuity.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): You may be indecisive now, not knowing which way to turn but, as with Gemini, don't wait for "inspiration" to help you. Get going and let past procedures guide.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Avoid tendencies toward impulsiveness. Make no hasty judgments and don't jump to unwarranted conclusions or you could make serious errors.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Personal matters may be troubling you. Review them calmly, completely. Perhaps you are overemphasizing certain angles. There is no real need for anxiety.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Be careful in whom you confide and respect confidences given you. Some tendencies toward mischiefmaking prevalent.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Brace yourself for some opposition now. If you are prepared, you can cope with it more easily.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): A good work day it you keep up to snuff, well organized, reasonably systematic, yet with mind flexible enough to accept new and progressive methods and ideas.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Judgment should be more accurate now than it has been for the past couple of days. A good day for making long-range plans, making important decisions.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Inner excitement and overoptimism could send you off the sound path, in both thought and action. Make a special effort to maintain composure.

Colonels Nip Buffalo

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — He hardly seemed like the same person as he sat on a bench sipping a beer.

Only minutes before, Artis Gilmore had scored 36 points — including 19 in a fourth quarter show of strength — as Kentucky nipped Buffalo 120-116 Tuesday night in a professional basketball exhibition game.

Almost alone in the Colonels' dressing room, Gilmore traded quips with a teammate and talked of what was probably his best performance of the preseason. "My back wasn't hurting too much," said Gilmore in a soft voice which seems out of place in his muscular 7-foot-2 body. "I could still feel that the pain was there, but it didn't effect the way I played."

It should be noted that Buffalo's defense also had little to do with Gilmore's performance, especially in the fourth period. The center from Jacksonville lifted a Kentucky team that had blown a 16-point lead and almost personally propelled it to its fifth exhibition victory in seven tries, all against National Basketball Association teams.

Gilmore got the Colonels started quickly, hitting the first seven points to fuel a 19-4 game-opening run by Kentucky. The lead went to 16 in the second quarter before Buffalo began a sustained comeback under the leadership of forward Jim McMillian, who finished with 32 points.

Your Horoscope Television Schedule

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR THURSDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): You have the inside track in a number of ways — if you will just recognize opportunities when available and handle them in your usual clever manner.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Excellent Venus influences! Get into the spirit of things and do your utmost to advance your interests. Creative pursuits especially favored.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Do not wait for opportunities to materialize "out of the blue." Seek them out yourself. A period for exercising your lively imagination and innate ingenuity.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): You may be indecisive now, not knowing which way to turn but, as with Gemini, don't wait for "inspiration" to help you. Get going and let past procedures guide.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Avoid tendencies toward impulsiveness. Make no hasty judgments and don't jump to unwarranted conclusions or you could make serious errors.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Personal matters may be troubling you. Review them calmly, completely. Perhaps you are overemphasizing certain angles. There is no real need for anxiety.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Be careful in whom you confide and respect confidences given you. Some tendencies toward mischiefmaking prevalent.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Brace yourself for some opposition now. If you are prepared, you can cope with it more easily.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): A good work day if you keep up to snuff, well organized, reasonably systematic, yet with mind flexible enough to accept new and progressive methods and ideas.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Judgment should be more accurate now than it has been for the past couple of days. A good day for making long-range plans, making important decisions.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Inner excitement and overoptimism could send you off the sound path, in both thought and action. Make a special effort to maintain composure.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): You could overstep limits now if too strong a desire for a certain attainment causes you to strive and press beyond what is wise under present circumstances.

YOU BORN TODAY are enthusiastic about life and people generally; are reserved, dignified and well-poised. All this, if true to the Libran's finest side, which also includes a talent for adapting to unusual and difficult situations, stamina in emergencies, and a practical mind which also delights in the artistic. Views On Television

NEW YORK (AP) — Last Jan. 6, ABC started "AM America," a two-hour morning show it described as the "information-entertainment" bag and as an "alternative" to NBC's "Today" show and the "CBS Morning News."

On Nov. 3, "AM America," a consistent third in the dawn ratings races, is being replaced by yet another "alternative" in the "information-entertainment" vein. The new show is called "Good Morning, America."

It will have a new host, new contributors, a new executive producer, a new staff, a new stage set and even a new theme song composed by Oscar-winning tunesmith Marvin Hamlisch.

Rumors of the Big Change have been rife for weeks, but the only real surprise in ABC's announcement of it Tuesday was ABC's choice of actor David Hartman, 40, as host of the new show.

Advance speculation, which had named everyone but Judge Crater as the new host, generally missed Hartman, who starred in "The Bold Ones" series and last year played a schoolteacher in NBC's "Lucas Tanner."

ABC newsman Bill Beutel, who anchored "AM America" from the start, is out of the new venture and will return to reporting for ABC.

ABC said it still is considering replacements for newsman Peter Jennings, who anchored the half-hourly news segments of "AM America" and is going back to field reporting at his own request.

Network officials who described the new show as "people-oriented" (they also called the old show that) say they don't know yet if "Good Morning, America" will have a female cohost eventually. The old show had one, Stephanie Edwards, but she quit last May to resume her acting career. Various guest cohosts replaced her.

In addition to two holdover contributors — columnist Jack Anderson and former New York mayor John Lindsay — four new contributors will regularly appear on "Good Morning, America" on tape and film.

One may set "serious" critics to harrumphing. He's comedian Jonathan Winters, who'll appear thrice a week as a critic of movies, television shows and whatever else strikes his fancy, ABC says.

Th other newcomers are roving reporter Geraldo Rivera, whom ABC says will try to find the human side of the big story; Hollywood watcher Rona Barrett, and syndicated columnist Erma Bombeck.

As with "AM America," ABC officials say the new show will try to be light in tone, avoid "an alarmist approach" and emphasize light and serious features as well as reports of interest to consumers.

Even though the new show will continue to originate from New York and its news segments from Washington, ABC said more effort will go into getting feature stories from ABC affiliates across the nation.

Before "AM America" began, executives in charge of that show said it cost $5 million a year and that ABC was willing to support it at that level for up to three years, even if it didn't turn a profit.

Commissioners Open Bids For Vehicles

Pickaway County Commissioners Dick T. Tootle, L. Robert Liston and Donald Strous Tuesday opened bids for two crew cab pickup trucks for the county engineer's department and one cruiser for the sheriff's department.

Wes Edstrom Motors was the lone bidder for the trucks. The prices submitted by the local automobile agency were $4,939.16 with trade and $5,039.16 for the truck on which there would be no trade.

Harden Chevrolet Co. was the apparent low bidder for the cruiser, submitting a quotation of $4,357.77 with trade. The other bid was $4,855 submitted by Jim Houseman Ford.

A letter from Sheriff Dwight Radcliff was read requesting commissioners purchase of emergency generator for the jail and sheriff's quarters and offices. Specifications were submitted by the sheriff for the generator and commissioners passed a resolution to advertise for bids for it. Matching funds are available for its purchase.

County Engineer Henry McCrady submitted a report on a traffic survey he conducted on Welch Road in Scioto Twp. Commissioners, after studying the report, passed a resolution requesting Division Six of the Ohio Department of Transportation to make a survey on the traffic and to consider a reduced speed limit.

Commissioners Open Bids For Vehicles

Pickaway County Commissioners Dick T. Tootle, L. Robert Liston and Donald Strous Tuesday opened bids for two crew cab pickup trucks for the county engineer's department and one cruiser for the sheriff's department.

Wes Edstrom Motors was the lone bidder for the trucks. The prices submitted by the local automobile agency were $4,939.16 with trade and $5,039.16 for the truck on which there would be no trade.

Harden Chevrolet Co. was the apparent low bidder for the cruiser, submitting a quotation of $4,357.77 with trade. The other bid was $4,855 submitted by Jim Houseman Ford.

A letter from Sheriff Dwight Radcliff was read requesting commissioners purchase of emergency generator for the jail and sheriff's quarters and offices. Specifications were submitted by the sheriff for the generator and commissioners passed a resolution to advertise for bids for it. Matching funds are available for its purchase.

County Engineer Henry McCrady submitted a report on a traffic survey he conducted on Welch Road in Scioto Twp. Commissioners, after studying the report, passed a resolution requesting Division Six of the Ohio Department of Transportation to make a survey on the traffic and to consider a reduced speed limit.
